

Scuderia AlphaTauri and RDS agree partnership extension

Scuderia AlphaTauri is pleased to confirm the extension of the partnership with Japanese design & technology company, RDS Ltd. RDS specialises in developing original, new and innovative approaches to manufacturing based on their strength of “Ideas”, “Design” and “Technology”.

Since their establishment, RDS has been involved with many new product developments for motorsports, medical & welfare, and leading-edge robotics. Relying on innovative minds with strong designing skills and solid engineering know-how, RDS take pride in their streamlined production process that allows for more efficient and precise CFRP moulding and 3D printing operations with full respect for product architecture.

Anri Sugihara, CEO, RDS:

“I couldn’t be happier to extend our partnership and be part of an exciting new era with Scuderia AlphaTauri. Here at RDS we pride ourselves on an innovative approach to design and technology, all of which are fundamental to success within the ultra-competitive world in which we operate as well as, of course, in F1. I’m really excited about what this season holds in store and look forward to another successful year with the team.”

Franz Tost, Team Principal Scuderia Toro Rosso:

“After our best-ever finish in the hybrid era, we’re delighted that RDS has extended their partnership with us. Our respective organisations share a common philosophy based on design and performance excellence. The close working relationship we’ve created with Anri san and his team will continue to be beneficial for both parties, which is the cornerstone of any successful partnership.”

Hi-res still and moving images are available on:

<https://www.redbullcontentpool.com/scuderiaalphatauri>

<https://www.scuderiaalphatauri.com/en/media>

Free of charge for editorial purpose only